

On the 7th and 14th of May, ALT travelled to Annalong to work on the four acres of Mourne land that have been donated to ALT, as a gift from the Lord, for the work. We found this old dinosaur, sleeping in the field. Needless to say no-one dared to stir him.

The scenery at Annalong is breathtakingly beautiful, and makes me think of heaven.

Still, there was a lot of work to be done...

Proverbs 24:30-31

I went by the field of the slothful, and by the vineyard of the man void of understanding; And, lo, it was all grown over with thorns, and nettles had covered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken down.

But we had help. Thanks to Michael, Jessica and Philippa, Kirk, among others, and some neighbours who were a great help to us, even offering to clear the field when we had gone home.

The weather was generally good, although we had showers of rain and even hail at times.

Michael Simms operates the digger, clearing the white bushes and piling them up. Without the digger, clearing the bushes would have been a very laborious job.

Kirk and our friend George helped to clear the stream which runs along the edge of the field.

Ruth helps out by shifting some shrubbery...

Pamela turns aside to see this great sight, how the bush burns, and yet is not consumed. Seriously though, we had a tough job trying to get rid of those whine bushes.

The day ended as it began, in spectacular beauty.

Genesis 28:16

And Jacob awaked out of his sleep, and he said, Surely the LORD is in this place; and I knew it not.
